

Call for Practice Papers - Journal of Philanthropy

Overview

Are you a practitioner with valuable insights on philanthropy? We seek contributions that address giving, benevolence, welfare, altruism, prosocial behaviour, and 'doing good' across all sectors.

The Journal of Philanthropy (Wiley) welcomes Practice Papers that offer practical insights and implications for philanthropic organisations. These papers are peer-reviewed by professionals with extensive industry experience.

What We're Looking For

- Practical lessons from real-world experiences
- Problem-solving case studies
- Innovation and creative approaches
- Success stories that offer novel insights
- Critical analysis of challenges and failures

Paper Structure (2500-3500 words)

1. Introduction
 - Present the challenge, opportunity, or issue
 - Relevance to philanthropic organizations or sector
2. Methodology
 - Brief description of approach (action research, project evaluation, etc.)
 - Data collection methods
3. Main Findings/Lessons
 - Key insights
 - Critical analysis
 - Supporting evidence
4. Practical Implications
 - Applications
 - Limitations
 - Recommendations
5. Conclusion
 - Summary of key learnings
 - Future considerations

Submission Guidelines

- Original, unpublished work
- Follow Journal of Philanthropy guidelines for language, style, and referencing
- No promotion of specific brands
- Submit via Research Exchange portal

See: <https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/30647878>, for submission assistance, contact: JPILMAR@wiley.com